Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102 and 103

1. The rejections of the claims over Japanese document 10-2226534, Kitayama et al, Koyama et al are withdrawn in view of the amendments to the claims limiting the amount of total iron and excluding cerium oxide.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-9,11,12,14-16,18-23,25,26,35-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The limitation 0% cerium oxide is not considered to be supported by the instant disclosure. With this terminology applicants are using a negative limitation excluding cerium oxide from the claims. A negative limitation to avoid a reference is considered to be new matter. Ex parte Pearson 230 USPQ 711 and Ex parte Grasselli 231 USPQ 393.

Applicants are relying upon the terminology "[other oxidizing agents may be used] instead of cerium oxide" and "while cerium oxide is preferred in many embodiments, its presence is not a requirement" as supporting excluding cerium oxide from the claims. This is not persuasive because the above terminology supports cerium oxide as being an optional component however does not support excluding cerium oxide from the claims. Being optional and being excluded is considered to have different breadth in the claims. Furthermore, as applicants' remark oxidizing agents may be used instead of cerium oxide however the claims are silent as to any other oxidizing agents, as well as the disclosure fails to give one of ordinary skill in the art any direction as to what oxidizing agents are intended. At the very least if cerium oxide is excluded then another oxidizing agent must be present. It is not clear as to what example applicants are pointing to reciting 0% cerium oxide as to the serial number of which parent and the example number is not given.

3. Any amendments deleting the new matter after final would necessitate the reinstatement of prior art rejections and therefor would be considered a new issue.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
